

Enjoying Your Own Roman Holiday

There is nothing quite like the magic that is Rome. Once you have travelled to the Eternal City, it stays in your heart forever!

Here's a taste of the splendour that you can experience for yourself when you earn our Rome incentive trip.

- By the numbers: Italy has a population of 56 million people. Rome has a population of 2 million. Vatican City, which is the world's smallest country, has only 900 residents.
- A city within a city: The Vatican sits on 108 acres. In addition to being the official residence of the Pope, it contains offices, shops, a post office, a railway station (used only for freight), a library and a publishing house. The Vatican publishes a daily newspaper, and has a radio station that broadcasts in 20 languages.
- On with the Show: During the Renaissance period, Piazza Navona was flooded and used to stage mock navel battles.
- Mathematically speaking: The interior of the Pantheon was built to such perfect proportions that a sphere could rest inside the building, extending from the centre of the floor to the centre of the ceiling with the circumference touching the walls.
